

Disclaimer

Every care has been taken in the preparation and maintenance of this web site. However, this web site does not take into account circumstances or needs of any particular person or family. Prior to acting on the information contained in this web site you should make your own enquiries and seek professional advice in light of your own circumstances. Roseville College will not be liable for any damages of any kind to any person arising from the use of this site.

Privacy Notice

The password protected area of this site contains information that is only available and applicable to the Roseville College community, ie Students, Parents of Students, Old Girls and Roseville College staff. As a condition of entering this password protected area, please respect the confidentiality of this site by not redistributing or misusing the information contained in this area.

Copyright Notice

Copyright in all material presented on Roseville College web site or any other Roseville College publications (printed or electronic) belongs to Roseville College. Duplication of any of the material contained on this web site for any reason other than personal use is expressly prohibited without written consent from Roseville College.